

Curriculum Vitae

Jongmin John Lee, M.D., Ph.D.

Professor of Radiology & Biomedical Engineering
School of Medicine, Kyungpook National University

After radiology training, I started my carrier as a cardiovascular radiologist from 1997 in Kyungpook National University Hospital. I focused on radiological practice, education, and research fields. In a meanwhile, I received PhD degree in Hamamatsu medical college in Japan and I've served as a guest professor to Graz University Hospital in Austria.

I've devoted to 17 medical societies including Korean society of radiology, Asian society of cardiovascular imaging, Asian Oceanian society of radiology, and Radiological Society of North America. Recently I focus on establishing a training center for overseas medical specialists in Korea.